THE REWARD OF FELLOWSHIP

REV. DR. GERRY KRUPP, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

The season of Lent is upon us – a time for entering the story of God and God's work in preparation for the coming Messiah. Lent is often a season of sacrifice in acknowledgment of one's surrender to Christ or as a means of advancing one's devotion. I hope you're thoughtfully engaged in this Lenten season.

While Lent is the high and holy season for Christ's followers, the NACCC is also preparing for its busy season. The excitement of the Easter season leads quickly into our Ministers Convocation, April 27-May 1, 2025, followed by our Annual Meeting in St. Louis, MO, June 20-24, 2025, and rounding out the summer season with the Boston Seminar in the last week in July.

These are the events that allow us to build interpersonal relationships with other Congregationalists so we might be able to effectively carry on the yearly cycle of mission, ministry, and worship. Without the fellowship we have between churches, members, and ministers, we are a bridge to nowhere.

Consider this note your invitation to these dynamic events. A special invitation goes to our congregations in places that have recently dissolved their regional associations. We all feel isolated and alone at times doing the work God has called us to. Let's take advantage of opportunities to mingle, lift our eyes beyond the horizon to the risen Christ, and pull hard in the same direction together!

SUPPORT THE 2025 AMC MISSION PROJECT

MOMC and NAPF/HOPE are seeking donations to fulfill their need of $3,200 to support this year's Annual Meeting and Conference mission project. The money will be used to buy food items to be packed into 1,500 meal packets for use in an emergency. If you'd like to donate in support of this cause, visit the NACCC website for information on how to give, and be sure to note that your gift is to be designated toward the 2025 AMC Mission Project.

CONTRIBUTE TO THE CONGREGATIONALIST

We'd love to share your thoughts on the pages of our Reverence-themed June edition!

Curious about what topics you could explore within the theme of Reverence?

You might reflect on the ways reverence shapes our relationship with God, how reverence is represented in scripture, or how we show reverence in everyday community life.

There are many ways to approach this rich theme - let your imagination and faith guide you!

To contribute, email your submission to Editor Maggie Helmick by April 1st!
